How Renters Rate Their Apartments; Adam Leitman Bailey's Horror Story

Thursday, November 10, 2011, by Sara Polsky

NYC—We shared our thoughts on new rental-hunting website InsideDigs when it first went live this summer; now InsideDigs users are sharing their thoughts on their 'hoods and apartments. The powers that be at the site created the above infographic, which shows some site users' representative descriptions of their places. [CurbedWire Inbox]

NYC—Even powerhouse ILSA-wielding attorney Adam Leitman Bailey isn't immune from horror-laden rental apartment experiences. He sends one along: "In my time evicting tenants, one for putting her feces on the wall. She used to collect them. I had to go to the apartment to inspect. The smell lives with me forever. The flies everywhere. The garbage everywhere. And then her smiling face to greet me. Stephen King could not do justice describing it. 80s West Side."
